Assoz. Prof. Dr. Martin Kuhlwilm

Employment

Professor

Department of Evolutionary Anthropology

University of Vienna

Wien, Austria

1 Jul 2025 → present

After studying Biology, I obtained a PhD in Biology in 2015 from the University of Leipzig/Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology, followed by working a postdoctoral researcher at the UPF (Barcelona). Since 2021, with a WWTF grant to establish a group, I am working at the University of Vienna.
My research interests are, among others, genomics of humans and great apes, introgression and admixture, and the evolution of gene regulation.